

VC inspires KCPE candidates

Vice-Chancellor Prof. Isaac S. Kosgey on Thursday October 4, 2018 took time off his busy schedule to inspire Moi University Primary School KCPE candidates to strive and excel in their forthcoming national examination.

“I want to encourage you to be focused. The examination you are about to sit is not the first in your life. What makes it different from the rest that you have sat before is that it is national. So you don’t have to lose sleep over it,” counseled Prof. Kosgey.

The VC asked the pupils to maintain discipline and be humble, the virtues he said are key for success.

“Moi University offers very unique programmes and you must aspire to join it. But it is through hard work and determination that you will be able to join the University,” added Prof. Kosgey.

Citing his humble beginning at Lessos Primary in Nandi County, the VC said it was through hard work that he managed to climb the academic ladder to become a full Professor.

“I have struggled throughout my life and through determination and perseverance; I am today a Professor and a Vice-Chancellor. I want to be a good example to you. You can come from a humble background and still rise to become the President,” he added.

He said the University is collaborating with the Uasin Gishu County Government to tarmac the road to the School, connect constant water supply and furnish the library to make it a model Primary School.

The Vice-Chancellor was accompanied by the Dean, School of Education, Prof. John Changach.

The School Principal, Mr. Isaac Biwott, appreciated the VC's presence, noting that the last time Moi University Vice-Chancellor visited the Primary School was in 2006.
